Dispatcher and son finally able to come home from hospital

By Debbie Dennie, Editor

It was just an ordinary day on September 28, 2014 when Pendleton County Dispatch Supervisor Teresa Rick, 35, left Falmouth after work with her youngest son Jake en route to her older son's soccer game at Tower Park in Ft. Thomas. But what happened when she started home was anything but ordinary. She would find that the trip to get home would last 30 days. Teresa was released from Gateway Rehabilitation Hospital on October 30.

She was operating her SUV southbound on U.S. 27 on September 29 near Sharp Middle School in Menzie Bottoms. She swerved to miss a deer in the roadway and went off the left side of the highway and plunged down a 30 ft. embankment landing in a creek with water in it. The water was almost up to the top of the vehicles tires.

It will takes months of rehab for her to be able to get back upon her feet, literally, and go back to work.

Teresa has been in and out of the University of Cincinnati Medical Center to Gateway Rehabilitation Hospital in Florence since September 29 when she was airlifted from the accident "The outpouring of prayers for Jake and I have been so wonderful," she said with teary eyes and a smile. "I feel so lucky."

Teresa suffered a dislocated left ankle, a broken tibia and fibula in the left leg, a crushed right ankle, and broken femur. She underwent surgery on the left ankle and has pins in it. But at the time her right leg and ankle were so badly swollen that she had to wait for awhile before they could do surgery on them. A little later she underwent surgery on the broken bones in her right leg and work on the right crushed ankle. So in the meantime until they could do a second surgery on her right ankle she was transferred to Gateway Rehab REHAB Page 3

Rehab

to start physical therapy. She was there a week then went back to U.C. to have the second surgery on the right ankle and a third surgery was done on it to repair her heel and a bone graft performed to help with support in that ankle which has plates and several pins. After a few days she was then transferred back to Gateway for more physical therapy. She will be going back into the hospital on November 6 to have a skin graft done on her left ankle due to the time they were able to work on it some of the skin died. She has a wound pack on that ankle now.

To make things worse Jake went to Children's Hospital in Cincinnati and the two were separated. She talked with him on the phone and they skyped each other but it wasn't the same as holding her son in her arms. It would be seven days before Jake was able to see his mom. His dad Brian Locknane had set with him every night. The hospitals arranged for Jake to come see his mom just before they did the second surgery. It was a joyous reunion for the two to again hug each other.

Jake was in the hospital 15 days with a severe concussion, cuts, and bruises.

Teresa's road to recovery has not been an easy one she has worked hard pushing herself with physical therapy three hours a day while in rehab. When she moves her legs she is in quite a bit of pain. But for anyone that knows Teresa they are not surprised when she said "I'll do it no matter how much it hurts." She has worked very hard to get the most out of the physical therapy.

Teresa is hopeful she will be able to walk by the end of the year. Doctors are not sure yet and they said no weight on either leg now. She has boots on both legs that almost reach her knees and gets around in a wheel chair.

To add to her injuries she had a large bruise on her chin that was holding water and then abscessed and she had to have a surgery to get that taken care of.

Jake attended his first day back to school on October 30. He had to leave school to go to Drake Hospital in Cincinnati to work with his physical therapy three hours at a time, two days a week for awhile.

A fellow dispatcher Sara Cookendorfer picked Jake up at school and brought him to see his mom and then ride with his grandparents to his therapy. Jake had a big smile on his face when he entered the facility and saw his mother in her wheelchair and the two hugged and kissed.

When she was asked about what she remembered having to lay there for almost eight hours before they were rescued she said, "I was so grateful that the vehicle landed on it's tires right side up. Once we were stopped I could hear water rushing into the vehicle. I yelled for Jake and found him in the front floorboard of the vehicle. When I went to move I could feel pain from my lower body. I bent over and kept pulling until I finally got Jake up into the front seat. I kept yelling for Jake to open his eyes. He wouldn't." She knew no one could see them. She told him to stay put because she was going to try to go for help.

She finally got her door open and managed to get out into the water. It was then she knew her left ankle was probably broken along with her right ankle and leg. "I think the cold water helped to keep the pain down some," she said. "But I had to try and get us help. I managed get to the bank. I knew I had two good arms and one good knee." The bank was very steep and she was unable to go very far up then fell back down. "I knew I couldn't make it up and then I heard Jake cry out. I had to get back to the vehicle and get to my son, I was afraid he would get out in the water and drown," she said. She got back and managed to get to the passenger door and get it open. She worked until she got Jake over to the center of the vehicle upon the console. His legs and feet were laying across the console in the driver's seat. She pulled herself up and got in the seat. Teresa reached for a blanket she had in the back of the vehicle and then wrapped Jake up in it to keep him warm and to try to keep her wet clothing off of him. "I didn't want us to get hypothermia. It felt like it took an eternity to get him up and get myself up into the vehicle. I held him tight all night and tried to calm him down and prepare for the long wait I knew we had ahead of us."

Teresa said she must of dozed in and out. "I was scared and I prayed to Jesus all night long to save us."

"I knew Brian would be out looking for us and he would eventually come," she said. Locknane is a deputy sheriff with the Pendleton County Sheriff's Office. And that he did after checking at her mothers to make sure she wasn't there. Brian called his friend, Hunter Craig, a deputy, to come and help look for them. Brian talked with Verizon and they were able to finally get a ping from her cell phone on the Falmouth tower. That ping told them she was between Butler and Falmouth.

Teresa said that she has lost service in the area there. But there was just enough to pick up the ping. By this time Pendleton County Search and Rescue was out along with the sheriff and other deputies and other volunteers searching for them.

"Out of the corner of my eye I saw lights flashing. I rolled over to see if I could see anything. It was lights and I started to scream and scream." The men Kenny Gibson, Jeff Crouch, and others rushed down the hill and got into the vehicle. Chris Willis was in the front seat with her and Jake, and Crouch was in the back seat. By this time Locknane and others were on the scene. Locknane got down to the vehicle and helped. She said he was so worried about them.

"The rescue personnel asked me what injuries we had. I told them Jake won't open his eyes and I thought I had a dislocated ankle and was in a lot of pain. Chris yelled for blankets to warm us up. I heard him say we were almost on the verge of hypothermia. He told me he was going to take Jake first and he took him from my arms."

Rescue workers had to put the two on stove basket, get them to the bank, and pull them up to the road.

Teresa said she saw her boss Mike Moore and she remembered saying to him "I'm sorry I know we are shorthanded." He told her it was okay and smiled.

Once in the ambulance medics started IV's and prepared her for the flight by University of Cincinnati air-care to fly her to the hospital. Jake was taken by ambulance to Children's Hospital in Cincinnati.

"Jake's injuries were worse than I thought," she said.

Now both Teresa and Jake are on the road to recovery at home with the help of their family and friends and the many people on search and rescue, fire department, sheriff's office and anyone else that helped in anyway to find them.

"Brian had gotten me a necklace for my birthday in June that had a set of angel's wings on it," said Teresa. "I had it on and the Lord was surely with us that night and saved our lives."

BERLIN BAPTIST

We invite all to come and worship with our family of believers. Sunday services begin with Sunday school at 10 a.m., morning worship at 11 a.m. and Sunday night services are held at 7 p.m. message by Brother Dan Black.

This past Sunday was a wonderful time in the Lord at Berlin Baptist Church. Brother Black's message was taken from Luke 22:31-34 and titled "Are you're actions molded to God's word or to the world around you?"

BUTLER BAPTIST

Herb Clark brought the special music, singing "Great is Thy Faithfulness".

Brother Daryl's message was from James 2:1-13 titled "Are You a Christian Snob?". The passage tells us to avoid partiality. Partiality is favoring some people over others. We all come to Jesus the same way and on equal footing. We should only compare ourselves to Jesus. We must love everyone and reach out to all people. Showing partiality sets you up as a judge of other people. We are all made in the image of God. Partiality focuses us on evil thoughts. God looks on the inside, not the outside. Partiality discriminates. We should be helping all people, especially the poor and lowly. Partiality shows foolish behavior. Showing partiality is a sin. Gods law is a law of love. We are to keep all of God's laws. We will all face the judgment of God. We will receive judgment based on how we have treated others. Treat others the way God tells us to, with love and compassion.

BUTLER METHODIST

Saturday, Nov. 8 is our Annual Christmas Auction and barbeque dinner. This is the biggest event the ladies put on during the year and depend on it for their scholarship money for the graduates of Pendleton County. They are inviting all the former recipients. Food starts at 5 p.m. and the auction will begin at 7.

Each Tuesday evening the archery ministry takes place, and Bible study, on Friday the young men play basketball and have a good time while hearing the word of God. Wednesday we have Bible study at River Valley.

Please pray for Nancy Kyle, Donald Osbourne and the Osbourne family in the loss of Geradine, David Lucas, Mel Davis, Judy Wright's mother, and Allan Davis who just moved to W.Va., Praises for Jeff (clean bill of health), Paul and Tonya visiting, Laura Norris visiting, Pam's praise, Dorothy Brown for the guys helping out, and for the beautiful fall we have had.

God Bless you and keep you till we meet again.

CHAPEL OF PRAISE

The church congregation enjoyed a wonderful homecoming celebration on Sunday Oct. 26.

Pastor Kevin opened the service in prayer and Rev. Andrew Jenkins preached on the need for salvation in these last days. A great homecoming awaits all of God's children when the rapturing of the Church takes place.

Rev. Larry Meade preached the afternoon service and his message centered around the need for the Holy Spirit to move among god's people like on the Day of Pentecost.

The ladies prepared a wonderful fellowship meal and we enjoyed having all of our visitors in attendance with us.

We are currently studying the Book of Revelation on Wednesday nights; we invite you to join us at 7 p.m.

FALMOUTH BAPTIST

October is always Pastor Appreciation month and I would be remiss if I didn't tell you how much we appreciate our pastor, Bro. Cohen Copley and his beautiful wife, Angie. I could probably write a book full of reasons why we appreciate them so much, but quite simply, it's because they live the godly life we are taught to live. He doesn't just preach to us about how we should live, but they demonstrate it daily. We truly are blessed to have such a godly couple leading our church. We love you guys!

We will be having our annual Harvest Festival from 5:30-8 p.m. Nov. 8. Chili, potato soup, sandwiches and drinks will be served. We will have a "sweet shop," a silent auction and cake walk too. All proceeds will be donated to the Urgent Care Facility being started in Falmouth. Bring your family and friends and come join us.

FALMOUTH CHRISTIAN

Bro. Nathan's message was from I Kings:1-18 titled, "What are you doing here?"

We must walk by faith when we have fear, by spending time in the word. Pray addressing God in a humble manor. Pray to God the Father with the help of the Bible. If you are ill, find a verse which talks about healing. Sometimes we just need to stop and listen to God's voice. Think about your prayer, laying it at the foot of the cross, giving it to God. Do we believe or just say empty words?

Bro. Adarin and the band did a great job as always, we are truly blessed.

Pray for those who are lost, ill, have lost loved ones, our country, and that more people will turn to God.

FALMOUTH WESLEYAN

Pastor Nick's message was preached from Hebrews 1:4-7. Jesus is greater than anything we can experience or imagine. Because He is Son, He is above all. When Jesus stops being first in our lives we struggle with many things such as needing the next best gadget or fashion available. Our hearts are empty and we live for those moments of happiness to get by until the next "happy" moment. When the Son isn't first we slip back into sin. If you are not settling for the Son, you are settling for less.

Sunday evening's message concerned the Christian's service. "We are all sitting on the shoulders of giants." No man, and certainly no Christian is an island. We are building on the foundation that is already laid (Jesus), and built upon by those gone before us. Sunday, Nov. 9, is our Second Sunday Hymn Sing starting at 6 p.m.

FIRST BAPTIST

Abram Crozier blessed us with special music this beautiful autumn morning. Bro. Harry's message, "Be Strong in Christ," was taken from Timothy. Life is not easy, but we must keep on enduring. We are called to be good soldiers for Christ. There is a daily battle for our spiritual souls. We are tempted constantly to sin. We can't depend on works to get to heaven. We must live to please God. Be strong in the Grace that Jesus has given us. We should spend our life striving to get to heaven.

Pray for the lost, the sick and those who have lost loved ones.

Our shut-in this month is Mary Ellen Klaber, River Valley Nursing Home, 305 Taylor Street, Butler, KY 41006. Send her a card to brighten her day.

"A bible falling apart usually belongs to someone who isn't."

HARVEST COMMUNITY

Our "Save a Life, Save a Soul" safety program was a huge success. Many thanks to Morgan Christian Church for joining with us to provide this wevent. Also many thanks to our local fire department, Emergency Management, Search and Rescue team, Eddie Quinn and his K9 dog, for their demonstrations of fire safety, water safety, results of texting and driving, dangers of drug abuse and to Sheriff Craig Peoples for his presentation on suicide awareness.

Sunday Nov. 26, we honored Bro. Dale Bobb; senior pastor, Bro. Donnie Spencer; associate pastor, Bro. Damian Kindle; youth pastor and Brady Purdy; assistant youth leader with videos, songs, cards and gifts in celebration of Pastor Appreciation Month. Many thanks to the Angie Schack and the youth for organizing the presentations.

Prayer concerns: Barry Miller, Katie Colemire, Laura Deaton, Linda Jones, Linda Evans and the families of Marvin Mason and Geraldine Osborne.

MORGAN CHRISTIAN

Sunday dawned a beautiful sunny Indian Summer day. Kelly Maxedon gave the Welcome and Announcements.

April Lecrone, assisted by Alison Moore, Caitlin Ramsey and Carlee Garrison, led the Children's Moment. Alison Moore explained "Disciple Me," the new program they are starting for the youth. Ages five and up are Morgan Minions and four and under are Morgan Munchkins. Each child, that wanted to, recited the scripture verse they learned for Sunday school. All are very excited for this new program.

Steve Wood's sermon title was "Let Your Light Shine." We each have a light to shine. We are to let others see our light.

"Salsas - Save A Life - Save A Soul" on Saturday, Oct. 25 at Harvest Church Pavilion was very interesting and successful.

Young couples Bible study started this Sunday evening, from 5:30-7 p.m., Oct. 26.

What is really hard, and really amazing, is giving up on being perfect and beginning the work of becoming yourself.

MT. MORIAH

The youth did a small presentation with Trish Lovelace asking for support of our youth group. Dave Lovelace read scripture from Isaiah 55:8-13. Brother Darrel shared that Jesus came to rescue people and to keep people from going down the wrong path. We have to start doing something to rescue people and to help those that are headed down the wrong road. We need to start working closely with the youth and setting a good example in our community. We need to allow God to use us.

We added many to our prayer list including, Richard Browning, Andy Sturgil, Joy Thomas, Kay King, Emily Pickett, those suffering from cancer and other illnesses.

Mt. Moriah will have a Veterans Service Nov. 9, followed by a meal. Group Bible Study on Wednesday nights at 7 p.m. All are invited to attend.

NEW HOPE

When we look outside, we can tell a change is coming. The leaves change color and fall. The air begins to get a little cooler. It gets dark a little sooner. All of this tells us that there is something coming. The fall prepares us for winter; It lets us know it is time to prepare to bring in wood, stock up on food, and get out the coats. When we look at this world, we also know that something else is coming. The world is not going to last forever. Wickedness is growing. This means we need to be prepared. The return of Christ can happen at any moment. Just like we prepare for the winter, we must prepare for the return of Christ. Are you ready?

"For you light my lamp; the Lord my God illumines my darkness."
~ Psalm 18:28

NEW ZION

Come join us for Worship and Christian fellowship. Sunday School begins at 10 a.m., Morning Worship is at 11 a.m. and Evening Worship starts at 6:30 p.m. The CrossFire Crew and Bible study meet on Wednesdays at 6 p.m.

Upcoming Opportunities: There will be a Deacons Meeting at 5:30 p.m. on Nov. 2. The Planning Committee will meet at 5:30 p.m. Nov. 9. Thanksgiving Dinner will be at 12:30 p.m. on Nov. 23.

Romans 3:10 (as it is written, There is none righteous, no, not one:)

Please remember in prayer Janet Bishop, John Thomas, Gretchen Teegarden, Sharona Peed, Marie Roberts, Jeanette Downard and the Ramsey family. Also remember to pray for our country and its leaders.

OAKLAND CHRISTIAN

Our Youth led the service this past Lord's Day and what a service it was!! Oakland is blessed to have several youth and boy, did they show their talents. Elijah Browning brought the message concerning "Esther, a Woman of Courage." We thank Ann Bruin for coordinating the service. A special blessing was the baptism of Steven Cummins. His mom, Anna Cummins, placed her membership with Oakland also. A very special ending to a wonderful Youth Sunday.

Oakland Christian Workers meet Wednesday, Nov. 5, at the home of Leona Phillips. Ladies are always invited.

Church Board meeting is Nov. 6.

Sympathy to loved ones of Judy Booth, Hallie Price, Gretta Bishop and K.W. Ramsey. Other prayer concerns include Teresa Rick, Jake Locknane, Jeanine Cox, Angie Pollard, LuAnn Holmes, Pat Ray, Danielle King-Klaber, Linda Jones, Janet Bishop, Margie Logan, cancer issues, heroin addiction, armed forces, our college students, and our leaders.

PLEASANT RIDGE

Bro. Rick's message was from Psalms 19.

We all are looking and searching for a closer relationship with God. Devotions are time you should spend with God in prayer and reading your Bible. When you have a personal devotion time it focuses on your relationship with Him.

Some people struggle with this. Why should you have a devotion time? Sin will keep you from a relationship with God and the Bible. Above all else guard the heart. What we put into the heart will change us.

God's laws are perfect. They protect us, make us wise, and give us joy and light. The word of God never loses its beauty.

Sunday night Bible study will be from various books of the Bible on Christian Belief.

PINE GROVE

Bro. Ron took his message from Psalm 110 explaining its revelation of the coming of Jesus and reminding us that the Bible is a book of instructions on how we should live.

Saturday night was our movie night. We watched "Heaven is Real." All were blessed.

Sunday afternoon we had a booth of goodies at the Community Block Party at DeMossville. This was a cooperative effort between the Champions for a Drug Free Pendleton County and the DeMossville Baptist Church. It was a beautiful day with lots of socializing, food, music, games, hay rides, cake walks, and many more activities. Thanks to all who made this possible.

On Nov. 7 and 8, the U.M.W. will set up at the Asbury UMC Christmas Bazaar in Highland Heights. The Dream Kids will meet on Nov. 12 from 4 - 6 p.m.

As you thank God for your many blessings, remember to pray for those in great need of prayer. We know that all need to give thanks and all need prayer.

SOUTHSIDE

On Oct. 26, Marvin Sullivan, worship leader, led the congregation in the morning worship service with the opening hymn, "We Have Come Into His House." Brother Clay Sullivan preached the sermon, "Taking the Fear Out of Halloween" from Ephesians 6:10-18. He talked how we need to look at the truth of God's word, which will take any and all fear out of Halloween myths. The memory verse for the week comes from Ephesians 6:10, "Finally, be strong in the Lord and in His mighty power."

Please remember in prayer Camp Northward, our missionaries, the leaders of our country, and those in the service of our country.

Come and worship with us this Sunday: 9 a.m. Sunday School and 10 a.m. Worship Service. Have A Great Day!

TRINITY

God is glorious! Take a moment to admire the beautiful autumn colors and you will see His masterpiece, but you better look quickly before it fades.

What a powerful way to worship and praise God. This past Sunday we welcomed Brian Birchfield to our services. He blessed the congregation with a wonderful message through music and moved everyone in attendance.

Thanks to those who participated in the fall festival at the Clifford Farm. Everyone had a great time. Thanks to the Clifford family for hosting.

The Deacon Challenge is still going. Remember this in prayer and they welcome you to join them on Tuesday nights as they pray and visit. Christians, it's time to remove yourself from you busy life and get back to the basics of knocking on doors.

Thanksgiving is approaching and the menu is posted. Please take a moment to sign up for three or four tasty dishes to be used in feeding our community.

TURNER RIDGE

This past Sunday, Oct. 26 Bro. Jim Murray was with us from Ashby Lane Baptist Church in Louisville, Ky. We enjoyed his message and having him with us. Their church has been partnering with us on mission trips for the last few years and it was nice to have this time with him. Barry Stephens led the children's message, and explained that God does not lie. He can do anything but never will He lie!

This is the time of year we get very busy and there is more to get done than there seems like time to do it - but remember to take time to read your Bible and go to church, we need fellowship with fellow Christians to put all things in to perspective. Pray for those that are sick, those that have lost loved ones, and our community. Hope to see you on Sunday.

SCHOOL

PCHS Counseling Office will be hosting "Planning for College" Parent Workshop

Pendleton County High School's Guidance Department will host "Cookies with the Counselors." Parents of students in Grades 10-12 are invited to attend this event from 6 - 6:30 p.m. on Thursday, November 6. Two important information workshops relative to college and career decision-making will begin at 6:30 p.m. immediately following the cookie reception.

Sophomores and their parents are invited to participate in the "College Readiness Workshop" that evening. Olivia Ballou, counselor for grade 10, will provide parents with a copy of their child's recent PLAN (pre-ACT) test score results. These will be reviewed with an explanation of how scores can be used to predict success on the ACT and possible next steps in their child's academic path that will insure improvement. Information will include connections to career exploration as well.

Juniors and seniors and their parents are invited to come and stay for "Financial Aid 101: Paying for College." While this session is of immediate significance for seniors and their parents, parents of juniors can take away some valuable information as their child becomes more involved in the college decision-making process.

"Financial Aid 101" will be facilitated by Carrie Wade, counselor for grades 11 and 12. Bob McDermott will lead the presentation. He serves as the Northern Kentucky out-reach counselor for the Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority.

One objective of the "Financial Aid 101" will be to provide an overview of the FAFSA (Free Application for Federal Student Aid). This is the application required to qualify for federal and state aid as well as some school financial assistance. Handouts will be provided to help with this process.

Plan to join the PCHS Counseling Department in the cafeteria for "Cookies with the Counselors" at 6 p.m. on November 6 followed by the valuable college and career planning workshops at 6:30 p.m.

Tim Antrobus speaks to PCHS seniors

Tim Antrobus of the Pendleton County Road Department was the guest presenter on Thursday, October 2 to Mrs. Valentine's group of first block seniors at Pendleton County High School.

Antrobus explained to the students that most of the work he does for the county was from skills that he had learned by teaching himself, stating that "the only limitations you have are those you place on yourself."

Through a PowerPoint presentation created by Michelle Hamilton, Antrobus shared several pictures of bridges he has designed and constructed throughout the county. He illustrated the number of different trades that can be present in replacing a bridge including crane operators, concrete workers, engineers, and more.

When hiring individuals, Antrobus stated that he looks for someone who is "versatile" and willing to learn.

WIA Employer Services Liaison Douglas Beard will continue to set up industry talks for PCHS students. Continue to check The Falmouth Outlook to see how the Kentucky Career Center is connecting students to career pathways.

The chapter would like to not only welcome, but congratulate the following inductees: Seniors Isabella Hall and Tanner Mains; Juniors Shannon Carey, Breanna Gibbs, Carlee Peters, Autumn Pugh, Zach Rogers, Clay Thompson, and Lily Wang; Sophomores Rebecca Ammerman, Grace Beebe, Avery Booth, Ben Bowen, Moly Burgemeier, Morgan Cobb, Mike Dewald, Madison Hall, Pendleton County NHS would also like to thank all members for the school supplies they donated for the school supply drive. The supplies were sent to the Family Resource Centers and are greatly appreciated.

Southern Elementary to host "Math Night"

Southern Elementary will host Math Night at 6 p.m. on Monday, November 10. Come and enjoy a little "late night" math and reading as students "Dream, Think, and Do" school activities.

Feel free to wear school appropriate pajamas to this event which will follow the PTO meeting.

Each grade level will have activities to do and items to take home. There will be milk, cookies, and a prize drawing.

The Family Involvement Committee hopes to see you there! (This is a qualifying event for the Christmas event through the South Family Resource Youth Service Center (SFRYSC.)

We're all EARS!

Chapter 8

"That's not blood, sweet-heart," Mom replied. "That's marinara sauce. You and Chloe were upstairs clogging and you fell through the ceiling. You landed on the table, splashing up all the pizza and marinara sauce. Somewhere along the way, all four of your, uh, my shoes, fell off your paws. One shoe broke a dinner plate, another landed in the middle of a peach pie, and two of them are sticking out of the potted plant," Mom said as Dad examined me.

Not only did I ruin a plate, a potted plant and a peach pie, I'd managed to destroy the entire upstairs flooring.

"Here Woody," Chloe said sweetly as she applied a carrot poultice to a bump on my head.

"Thankfully," Dad said as he gently lifted me out of the box, "with the exception of this little goose egg, you came out unscathed, and that's the best news of all."

"I'm sorry. I'll save up and pay for the damages," I said, knowing it would take years to replace the floor - and probably longer to replace four pairs of high heels!

"It was an accident," Dad reassured me as Mom wiped marinara sauce from my hair.

"Where's Mr. B.?" I asked. Before anyone could answer, in walked Mr. B. carrying a beautiful wicker basket filled to the brim with various items and an unusual looking broom.

"Land sakes you gave us a scare," Mr. B. said as he began unloading the basket. "I ran home to get supplies so I could help clean. My Kentucky handmade broom will get the job done. It was made by my friend who's a broom squire."

"A what?" I asked.

"A broom squire," Mr. B. repeated. "That's someone who makes brooms by hand."

"Couldn't he see the handle is crooked?" I asked.

"It's made from a tree limb," Mr. B. explained.

"Have you ever seen a perfectly straight limb? The bristles are made from a sorghum type of crop called broom-corn."

"Why would you want to make a broom when you could buy one at the store?" I asked.

"Not everybody lived near a store," Mr. B. said. "And those who did may not have had the money to buy a broom. Most folks had to make their own basics. If someone needed soap, candles, brooms, mops or even toys, they made them. When they made something, they wanted it to be functional and beautiful. That's what you call folk art. Fine art is pretty, but folk art is beautiful and useful. I wouldn't trade this for a store-bought broom for all the money in the world," Mr. B. said as he swept up the dust from the mess I'd made.

"Mr. B.," I asked, "why do you have a basket of corn shucks?"

"Glory be, you're full of questions! Ever'body in Appalachia has a basket. We use baskets for gathering eggs, carrying in vegetables from the garden, keeping a lady's knitting, and a host of other purposes. Corn shucks are a major staple in Appalachia. I bet you folks have never gone to a good ol' fashioned corn shuck-in' have you?"

"I've been to several corn shuckin' parties," Dad said with a grin.

"Tell us about it, Dad!"

"When farmers were ready to shuck their corn, they'd tell their neighbors. People from the community would come and help the farmers shuck corn, and of course when those helpers needed their corn shucked that farmer would return the favor," Dad explained. "Everyone would laugh and talk, and when we finished we would sit down to a feast."

"Did you ever find a red ear of corn?" Mr. B. asked Dad.

"A red ear of corn?" Mom repeated.

Dad sighed and said, "The unmarried guys would have a contest. The first one to shuck a red ear of corn could choose one girl to kiss."

"Did you ever find a red ear of corn?" Mom asked.

"Why do you have these shucks?" Dad asked quickly, trying to change the subject.

"I use corn shucks for everything - making dolls, hats and even mops. I brought these shucks to mop up the mess."

I picked up several of the corn shucks and I put some to the side of my head and some to the side of Chloe's head and said, "Mom, Dad, look! We're all ears! Get it? Ears? Ears of corn, our ears ...."

"Seriously, Woody," Chloe said, "that joke is so corny!"

We all laughed so hard we could hardly breathe

"Oh, I almost forgot!" Mr. B. said after he stopped laughing. "The Craziest Kentuckian competition is quickly approaching, and I have a good-luck present for you."

Historical marker for Mountjoy Cabin dedicated

By Roger McKinney, Reporter

A historical marker for the Falmouth Alvin Mountjoy Cabin was dedicated by the Hart Chapter of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution (NSDAR) and the Kentucky Society of the Sons of the American Revolution (KYSAR) on October 25, 2014. It was a warm, sunny, beautiful day.

Regent for the Winchester, Kentucky Hart Chapter of the NSDAR Fara F. Tyree welcomed everyone to the event.

There was "Presentation of the Colors" by the Governor Isaac Shelby Chapter of the KYSSAR and the Kentucky Color Guard. This presentation involved 21 American flags including the current 50 star flag, the WWII 48 star flag, the Star Spangled Banner flag with fifteen stars and fifteen stripes used during the War of 1812, the Gadsden flag, the Bunker Hill flag the Betsy Ross flag, and the flag of the Green Mountain Boys.

KSDAR State Organizing Secretary Leslie R. Miller, gave the invocation.

Everyone in attendance of the dedication joined in a recitation of the "Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America" led by DAR National Flag Chairman, Mary Mac Barnett.

Led by Alvin Mountjoy descendant Brittany L. Miller, everyone sang "The Star Spangled Banner"

Led by the First Vice Regent of the Hart Chapter of the NSDAR Lynne R. Hollingsworth, everyone read aloud "The American's Creed" from the dedication's program guidebook, "I believe in the United States of America as a government by the people, of the people and for the people, whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic; a sovereign Nation of many sovereign States; a perfect union one and inseparable established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice and humanity for which the American Patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes. I therefore believe it is my duty to my country to love it, to support its constitution, to obey its laws, to respect its flag and to defend it against all enemies."

Hart Chapter Regent Fara Tyree introduced Falmouth Mayor Mark Hart. The mayor thanked the NSDAR and KYSSAR for the dedication. He thanked Mr. and Mrs. Houchen for the preservation of the cabin. Mayor Hart introduced all the elected officials, who were in attendance of the event. He told everyone that Falmouth's first council meeting had taken place in the Mountjoy Cabin at some point in the late 1790s.

Regent Tyree also introduced Roger Stapleton of the Kentucky Heritage Council. Mr. Stapleton thanked Carol and Nancy Houchen for saving a treasured landmark. He congratulated Falmouth on surviving the Flood of 97 and talked about the importance of preserving historical buildings.

Mountjoy descendant and Hart Chapter Junior member Sarah K. Miller read aloud to the gathering a historical account of "The Life and Service of Lieutenant Alvin Mountjoy, a Revolutionary War Veteran -Third Virginia Continental Line."

All the Alvin Mountjoy descendants stood and were recognized. Nine descendants attended the dedication, some from as far away as South Carolina, Missouri and Kansas.

Fara F. Tyree and Leslie R. Miller dedicated the historical marker. There was an unveiling of the marker by Mountjoy descendant, Farren C. Miller.

Carol and Nancy Houchen received a Hart Chapter Award of Appreciation based on their rehabilitation and salvation of the Alvin Mountjoy Cabin.

There was a musical tribute by KYSSAR members Scott Giltner and Charles Scott. They played a song called "Parting Glass" on their fifes.

KYSSAR members Charlie Scott and Chuck Scott sang the lyrics to "Parting Glass."

KYSSAR members Charles Scott and Scott Giltner performed a black powder gun salute.

KSDAR State Organizing Secretary Leslie Miller gave the benediction.

After the ceremonies were concluded refreshments were served and everyone was invited to tour the cabin.

What follows next is a brief history of the Alvin Mountjoy Cabin:

Alvin Mountjoy was born in 1747 and died in 1827. He and his wife Mary were from Virginia. Alvin was an American Revolutionary War soldier. He enlisted in the Continental Army in 1775 and fought in the battles of Trenton and Princeton. In the late 1780s he served as Justice of the Peace and the High Sheriff of Bourbon County. In 1794 Alvin acquired land on the South Fork of the Licking River. He also purchased a number of town lots in Falmouth.

The Mountjoy Cabin on Chapel Street was built in 1795 and the trustees of the town initially met there on June 4, 1799. The cabin was the first home in Falmouth. Alvin and his wife had eight children and owned nine slaves. Their cabin had a basement and a first and second floor. It had four fireplaces. The cabin was constructed of poplar logs and its floors were made of pine. Simon Kenton and the legendary Indian Fighter, Reuben McCarty, were said to have been guests in the Mountjoy home.

Since 1775 the cabin has passed through the hands of 17 additional owners. In the late 1970s the cabin was purchased at auction by Carol and Nancy Houchen. Their intent was to bulldoze the structure and make room for a parking lot. At that time the cabin was covered with faded clapboard. When a few of these boards were removed the logs underneath were revealed. Then, Nancy Houchen researched the cabin's history and discovered its true significance. So, instead of destroying the cabin the Houchens saved and restored it.

Bowling team rolls out second season

Last season, coach Gary Polley lead his bowlers in their first season with a strong first season.

The Ladycats saw a team of beginning bowlers with five girls shooting in the 30's to a team at the end of the season with six bowlers scoring over 100.

The Wildcats saw a team that had two bowlers routinely shoot over 200 and improvement through the depth of their team.

CHYANN UTZ

"We want to keep the program growing and hope to get some younger kids started and experience for the future," coach Gary Polley commented on his goals for the second season.

He continued, "Practices are going great and the teams are showing potential and more eager to learn than last year. They came into the first practice ready to work and get ready for the season."

He is joined on staff by his sister, Kim Polley, and cousin, Pete Ramsey.

They will have some keys returning bowlers but also welcoming a new group of bowlers.

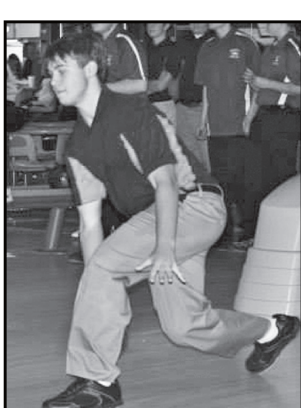

The Ladycats will be led by returning bowlers Chyann Utz that progressed to be one of the best bowlers on the team last year and Mikalla Thomas, who made tremendous strides in her first season and had a strong round in the region tournament.

They will be joined by two members of the Cross Country team, Alexis Tolbert and Xanthia Jensen, that will bring plenty of competition experience. Both have competed in the KHSAA Cross Country meet.

Sisters Haley Carr (fast pitch) and Kendall Carr (soccer) also bring valuable varsity level competition experience from other Pendleton County sports. They will be joined by Jamie Hughes and Brooklyn Trent to complete the Ladycat Bowling team.

The Wildcats will return four bowlers. Seniors Jonah Smith and Dalton Hill return for their second season and have a friendly rivalry going on with 6th grader Trevor Colvin who will have the highest score in each practice round this season. Also returning is Christian Rick who scored high in several matches last season.

Newcomers are senior Caleb Vanorio who brings varsity level competition experience from his time on the cross country and track teams. Newcomers are Robbie Maines and Ashton Praeter.

In each match, each player will bowl a 10-frame game with the top five scores constituting the team score. At that point, the team will bowl a Baker's Dozen round with five individuals bowling two frames each.

First bowler will bowl the 1st and 6th frame, second bowler 2nd and 7th, third bowler 3rd and 8th, fourth bowler 4th and 9th with the last bowler rolling the 5th and pivotal 10th frame. Generally, a team's best bowler is the 5th bowler for the best chance to get three balls in the 10th frame.

Pendleton County Bowling team practices on Wednesdays as well as has their home matches at Southern Lanes in Alexandria. Matches are held on Thursdays.

For more information on the bowling team or if your child is interested in joining, you can contact gpolley25@yahoo.com.

Wildcats Football falls short on Senior Night

The Pendleton County Wildcats faced the Ludlow Panthers on Halloween night, October 31 to close out the 2014 season. Ludlow would flex their muscle early as they zipped out to a 20-0 first quarter lead and never looked back, winning the game 39-14.

It was Senior Night for the Wildcats as the team said goodbye to four young men: TJ Chandler, Logan Decker, Hunter Lea, and Chase Owens. It was a welcome sight to see Decker and Owens in pads for the first time in several weeks after being sidelined with injuries. Also being honored were several fall sport athletes in cross country and cheerleading.

Ludlow used a strong running attack to build an early lead they would never relinquish. The Cats were able to dent the scoreboard early in the second half on a Hunter Lea touchdown run to make it 20-7. Pendleton County would have another opportunity to cut deeper into the Ludlow lead, but would turn the ball over, and the Panthers capitalized and put the game out of reach. Lea would cap of a stellar season and high school career with a 50 yard run, breaking several tackles along the way to make the score 33-14. Ludlow would add another score late as the reserves took over to make the final score 33-14.

"We ran into another skilled and talented team in Ludlow tonight," commented coach Terry Brown. "We dug ourselves a hole and just couldn't climb out of it."

Brown was also proud of his seniors, saying, "Not only are we losing four quality football players, we're losing four quality young men as well. They having given their heart and soul to the team the past four years and they will be sorely missed."

The loss brings the season to a close for the Wildcats at 3-7. Look for the season in review, as well as a look ahead to 2015 in next week's Outlook.

OPINION

“You must pay the price if you wish to secure the blessing.”
~ Andrew Jackson

The problem of violence with our youth

Our news carriers have been full of an item concerning a student at a high school close to Seattle who walked into the cafeteria and shot four students at close range; then killed himself. Two of the students shot were killed. Two remain in critical condition.

A psychologist was interviewed after the melee and asked, “What’s causing youth to kill youth and often themselves?” He said that there was a crisis among our youth that was resulting in this kind of violence. When pressed for a strategy to combat this senseless violence, he mentioned that our federal government’s efforts in mental health were in shambles and that we needed to be on the alert for troubled individuals who might take violent action because of their personal problems.

But this student who did the shooting showed no symptoms of being disturbed. He was crowned Prince of the Homecoming Court just a few days before, was on the football team, and other classmates said that he appeared happy even on the morning of the shooting.

Our hearts and prayers go out to those involved; no one would wish such on his or her worst enemy.

I am a product of the public schools as are many of our older readers, and we do not remember much violence. Perhaps a fist fight, and I remember a boy cutting another boy in high school but I think it was in the community and not at school. I remember Robert Van Horn who was principal at Brethitt County High School (BCHS) in 1949. He was approximately five feet, eight inches tall, weighed about 160 pounds, and was not particularly muscular, but he maintained strong discipline. When we had assembly in the gym, he would never appear until we were all seated. And as we talked and laughed awaiting his arrival, when we saw his legs coming down the steps to the gym, a hush fell on the assembly and figuratively we could hear a pin drop on the floor. He had no PA system and when he spoke; his volume was scarcely above a conversational tone.

Paddling was permissible in those days and I am sure that Principal Van Horn had a paddle, but if he ever used it, I was not aware of it. I saw him grab a boy by the shirt collar only once, but the mystery of the man caused us to behave properly. We were not afraid of him but we respected his position. And, bullying...an often cited cause of violence today...was minimal. I do not remember any.

The question which we oldies ask is one of puzzlement: Why are we having this violence now? Paddling is outlawed. We have better buildings. Transportation is provided. (Contrast today’s to Becky Peal who in the 1950’s had to walk six miles one way to catch a passenger train to BHS.). We have more supplies, more athletic teams, better trained teachers, more money, and more things!

Some say the breakdown of the American family is a cause of this violence because children are not taught discipline and respect in their family unit, and undoubtedly, this a partial cause. A disclaimer here: Rearing children is a complex process and I know of some very fine parents whose children have disappointed. Therefore, let us look further in our analysis for causes.

Others suggest that we have moved from an agrarian to an industrialized society and this has contributed to a youth growing up without developing a work ethic so prevalent in youth who grew up on a farm.

And with industrialization, youth have more money and more affluence which has contributed to contempt toward simple, God-respecting ways such as respect for the individual and human life..

And that brings us to an erosion of God in our government that has contributed to an attitude that there is no absolute right and wrong in our society; that something is right or wrong only as we perceive it. A prominent citizen in Jackson told me when I was a student at Lees College that if something works, it is right. It is moral. For example, if a person tells a lie and gets by with it without any repercussions, it is right; it is moral; no harm is done.

I paraphrase Friedrich Nietzsche who in 1885 saw the same trend in European society as we are experiencing in USA today, the secularization of government, which put in everyday language, means that God is excluded from government. He further said, paraphrased, that the last man standing would be devoid of purpose except to have creature comforts and ample fornication. The Ten Commandments are cast into the garbage. The Constitution matters not. Lie about your opponent. Steal. Kill. Just don’t get caught.

This confusion of norms creates a sense of chaos that causes insecurity in society, particularly among our youth. They search for something to believe in which is beyond themselves! Sometimes they turn to things like zombies and witches and drugs and, when cornered by a personal problem, to violence as their way out.

Mental health won’t cure the problem of youth violence in our society. Not more money. Not more things. Not more school buses. Not more buildings. Not more computers. Not more Facebook.

What then? I suggest a faith experience can change a person and keep him or her secure in the midst of despair. Also, just today, I saw another ray of hope. I talked with a lovely lady, 20 years old, who is a student at NKU. A member of the NKU’s Golf Team, she brings attractiveness, intelligence, education, and enthusiasm to the table. I asked her about her major. She replied, “Social work with an emphasis on youth problems!”

Career Center holds job fair

By Roger McKinney, Reporter

The Kentucky Career Center held a job fair in the meeting room of the Pendleton County Extension Center on Thursday, October 23, 2014. The event was directed by the Workforce Investment Act’s (WIA’s) Employer Service Liaison Douglas Beard. More than 20 companies participated with 104 job seekers attended.

The following organizations were at the job fair to greet local citizens who were in search of work: Rumpke (who also provided lunch at the event), Pendleton County Schools, Griffin Industries, Darpro, Jay Gee Manufacturing, River Valley Nursing Home, Clopay, Convergys, Adecco, Speedway, Fischer Special Manufacturing, Dana Corporation (Crown Services), DHL, Mazak, SMX, Gateway Community & Technical College, KHEAA, Staffmark and FedExGround.

Each business had a booth where their representatives explained what they did and the manner of jobs the company had to offer. Some of the job seekers filled out applications in the meeting room while others took the applications home for further study.

Holiday meal on a budget

The holiday season can bring financial stress that burdens your spirit. From purchasing gifts to traveling to planning an elaborate holiday meal, extra expenses make it hard on families this time of the year. Many families skip holiday traditions to avoid overspending. Skipping the big Thanksgiving or Christmas meal may not be the answer to pinching pennies; choosing to eat a nutritious meal can help you avoid the extra spending and extra calories.

The guidelines of MyPlate suggest that half of your plate should be filled with fruits and vegetables. With less pressure to provide large quantities of a special meat, especially for the holiday season, the meal is beneficial for your health and budget.

Fresh fruits and vegetables can be costly at the grocery store. To avoid overspending, purchase fruits and vegetables currently in season. For seasonal produce, check out your local farmers market or visit a local orchard or pumpkin patch. Canned or frozen fruits and vegetables are available at your local grocery store, perhaps on sale. They also have a longer shelf life compared to fresh fruits and vegetables, so be sure to stock up during sales and buy things you know you will need for holiday meals. Since some families think a holiday meal would not be a feast without the meat, look at different options to help you stay within your budget. Look for local meats, like ham, and use recipes that include meat as an ingredient instead of a stand-alone dish. Avoid buying too much meat since it doesn't have a long shelf life and is usually the most expensive ingredient.

The most important factors for a successful holiday meal on a budget are planning and preparation. Making a plan for your holiday meal can save money and time. Establishing a budget is vital since there are extra expenses this time of the year. Include coupons, food stamps and WIC vouchers as a part of your budget. Don't buy "extras" with the money that you save, unless they will be used for your holiday meal.

Preparing a list for just the items that you need for your holiday meal can also help you avoid spending extra money. After you have created a list, check out your local food sources for items such as meat, eggs, cheese, baked goods and produce from Kentucky producers. If you can't find the items that you need at your local food source, then go to your local grocery store.

Adding a few things in your cart at the store can cost you many extra dollars at the cash register. Don't forget to look in your cabinets and refrigerators to see what you already have. Little expenses like salt and pepper, and other small condiments add up quickly. Look for the spices and herbs you will need at discount stores.

Don't let the expenses of the holiday season be the reason for an empty stomach or an empty wallet. Making healthy choices by following the daily recommendations of MyPlate can provide both health and financial benefits.

For more information on how to prepare and plan your holiday meal, view UK Cooperative Extension Publication Plan for Food Spending at <http://www.ca.uky.edu/agc/pubs/nep/nep210/nep210.pdf> or contact the Pendleton County Extension Service.

Local Cover Crop Seed Cost-Share Program

The Pendleton County Conservation District is again this year sponsoring the local cost-share program for cover crop wheat/rye seed. This is for Pendleton County landowners only!

Have you sown your cover crop yet? Cover crops should be in the ground by November 1st. Without this cover the soil is left bare "to the mercy of wind, snow, water and ice for the winter months. This is also a component of your HEL Conservation Plan, in order to stay in compliance you need to sow a cover crop after harvest.

This is the eighth year for this program. After you have finished sowing your cover crop, bring your receipt (made out to you from your seed dealer), fill out a short application form. The Conservation District will pay 50% of the total cost of the cover crop (wheat/rye) seed that you purchased, up to a maximum of $100 per landowner.

This program is now underway and will end on December 31, 2014 or when the allotted funds have been depleted. The conservation board of supervisors meet on the third Tuesday evening monthly and will approve payment of applications received. A check will be mailed to you after that approval. The office is located in the USDA Service Center, 814 US 27 South, Falmouth and our telephone number is 859654-3376, ext. 3.

Another Reminder: It's time of the year to think about next spring's tree seedlings for spring planting. The Conservation District has order form/price list of species that available thru the Kentucky Division of Forestry. Order directly from them and they will ship them directly to you! Now, how easy can that be! Stop by our office and pick one up or call us and we will be glad to mail one to you.

All programs and services are offered on a non-discriminatory basis.

Fruit and vegetable myths

There are many myths and old wives tales concerning fruit and vegetable crops that have become part of Kentucky lore. Several myths that still exist today involve grape coloration and fall frosts.

A number of grape growers believe that it is necessary to pick the leaves off the vine to expose the grape clusters to the sun so the grapes will color. This myth probably originated from growers removing leaves to improve air-circulation and reduce fruit rot. The truth is grapes - with the exception of the seedless Reliance variety - do not need sunlight to color. In fact, the fruit will color just fine when covered. Home grape growers can staple a bag over each cluster which keeps off birds, insects and diseases and reduces their spray program.

Frost has a tendency to concern many producers. Some people believe greens become poisonous after a frost. Greens like mustard, kale and collards actually develop a more enhanced flavor after a frost. Cool temperatures slow the internal respiration of the greens, allowing more sugars to accumulate, making them slightly sweeter. One exception, however, is rhubarb, which becomes toxic after exposure to a hard freeze.

Myths involving frosted sweet potato roots also exist. Many producers believe that sweet potato roots become poisonous after a frost, but they actually just rot. Sweet potatoes are warm season crops and will not tolerate a vine-killing frost. Producers should worry about frost injuring the sweet potatoes where they attach to the vine. This injury prevents healing after the sweet potato is harvested leading to decay in storage.

For more information on fruit and vegetable production, contact the Pendleton County Cooperative Extension Service.

The Amish Cook shares coffee cake recipe with top-notch filling

The Amish Cook

By Gloria Yoder

Dear Friends,
What gorgeous fall weather we're having! I love observing the red, yellow, and orange of the trees and bushes as they turn into their beautiful autumn colors before dropping their leaves. Several weeks ago when my 3-year-old daughter Julia first noticed a tree without leaves she informed me that the tree is dead and we're going to have to cut it down. I explained to her how new growth will start again as the seasons change and it warms up outside after it has snowed. Truly we serve an amazing God who so wonderfully designs and creates all things.

You may remember from last week's letter that we were expecting to get a new pony. Now this week we're delighted to let you know that it has arrived! Thanks to Jim and Linda from northern Illinois. They traveled 5 1/2 hours to deliver her to our little farm. Her name, Sassy Sundae, fits her quite well.

"Look at her tail! See she's sassy," Linda said, pointing to a baby picture of Sassy Sundae twitching her tail to the side in a dignified manner. "She was born on a Sunday morning," they explained "and we like ice cream sundaes, so we decided 'sundae' will have to be part of her name."

The combination just clicked so she was named Sassy Sundae. She has a reddish brown coat with a beautiful white blaze and a white foot as well as a sprinkle of white over her back and rump. You can only imagine how excited Julia has already been to have a pony of our own.

Last night she was harnessed up for the first time. At first she was not too sure about it but I think she'll do fine after she's accustomed to it a bit more. With her being a notch smaller than Sapphire, our Standard Bred mare that we use in the buggy, she'll be a lot easier for me to harness, hitch up and drive, especially when going away with little ones. As of now we're keeping Sassy Sundae in a stall but look forward to seeing how her and Sapphire will respond to one another once we put them together in the pasture. I'm sure Sapphire will be glad to have a companion.

Now, for this week's recipe: I decided to share one for our "favorite coffee cake." It has been tried and proven many times. I've made it countless times as a young girl at home. At that time we always put it into a 9 X 13 inch cake pan and put the crumbs on top and for a treat we sometimes sprinkled a handful of chocolate chips on top as well. Now recently I started pouring the batter into four 8-inch pie pans. Next, I spread the filling over two of the cakes and put the remaining two cakes on top. Sometimes I also drizzle chocolate and vanilla icing over the top to give it a more complete look. We prefer eating it chilled.

The coffee cakes are perfect for giveaways for anyone who may drop by. When my husband Daniel comes into the kitchen while I am baking them he'll sometimes ask "for me, too?"
